   Is it ok to be off camera to eat something briefly?

10:05:05 From Andres Ramirez to Hosts and panelists:

   I will be off camera because Im on the road but will turn camera on once I get to the office

10:24:25 From Sasha Linker to Justin Hall(direct message):

   Can you pin the interpreter?

10:26:20 From Justin Hall to Sasha Linker(direct message):

   Ok, they should be spotlighted for everyone now.

10:40:02 From Ana Gonzalez to Hosts and panelists:

   We probably should have t available to the public

10:59:41 From KeriAkemi-Hernandez to Everyone:

I would like to include Tribal Communities early in the process. Especially to consider Native Plants, such as Tule, medicine and basket weaving plants so that we minimize pollution for Tribal members to gather plants safely. Also, to install a plaque with QR code to explain to the public why this is significant.

10:59:49 From Abimael Chavez-Hernandez to Hosts and panelists:

Neighborhood organizations, if those are present in the community

Especially to consider Native Plants, such as Tule, medicine and basket weaving plants so that we minimize pollution for Tribal members to gather plants safely. Also, to install a plaque with QR code to explain to the public why this is significant. in addition to the (NAHC) contact list, reach out to non-recognized tribes

11:04:31 From AndresRamirez to Hosts and panelists:

Value local communities expertise about their local streets

11:04:33 From Randy Torres-Van Vleck to Hosts and panelists:

Outreach strategies: Agreed about food! Understanding interpretation needs.

11:04:46 From Lisa Alvarado to Hosts and panelists:

never be extractive. 🙏🏽 try to purchase food from locally owned business.

11:05:07 From KeriAkemi-Hernandez to Everyone:

offer training to Tribal Communities and immigrant groups to collaborate and co-steward

11:05:35 From AndresRamirez to Hosts and panelists:

Acknowledge past harms done by transportation projects ie gentrification, freeways displacing communities

11:06:15 From KeriAkemi-Hernandez to Everyone:

considering Disability needs, braille and audio descriptions

11:06:51 From AndresRamirez to Hosts and panelists:

Meet people where they are at. Come to events that may be already planned or organize charrettes at bus stops or grocery stores.

11:07:45 From KeriAkemi-Hernandez to Everyone:

highlight success of reducing harms through QR code to track progress of project successes. for example, reducing pollution, improving access, wildlife corridors, etc

11:07:56 From Lisa Alvarado to Hosts and panelists:

follow up. follow up. follow up. ex: "hey thanks for your input last week. we send it to our team in .... if you wanna stay engaged can I call you in a month to share outcomes? ..." being a leader in engagement means you are stewarding the relationship ❤️.

11:08:06 From Randy Torres-Van Vleck to Hosts and panelists:

I sent a request to edit the mural board (to add the sticky notes). Did staff receive it?

11:08:49 From Jas Chohan to Everyone:

11:14:29 From KeriAkemi-Hernandez to Everyone:

to give consideration in thr budget to offer gift cards for community feedback as an incentive. Farmers market cards grocery or gas. As well as translators at meetings

11:16:27 From AndresRamirez to Hosts and panelists:

provide child care for in person meetings will allow for families to attend

11:20:03 From Abimael Chavez-Hernandez to Everyone:

Create board games or other interactive activities for people to walk through project development

11:22:24 From Randy Torres-Van Vleck to Hosts and panelists:

Having a big map of the project helps to frame the conversation. Most engagement initiatives do have this but I've seen some project level ones that don't. Map helps folks shared their lived experience navigating a street/corridor.

11:22:35 From Randy Torres-Van Vleck to Hosts and panelists:

For in person engagement*

11:23:08 From Abimael Chavez-Hernandez to Everyone:

for board games, I think San Diego (city) has made a few and is working on new ones

11:25:03 From Randy Torres-Van Vleck to Hosts and panelists:
